

Doctoring Maintenance - Human Factors in Aviation

Doctoring Maintenance is two stories, where the main characters are doctors. They could as well have been lawyers, airline pilots, or even plumbers. Strong personalities and those willing to "keep the peace" make for a bad combination in aviation. Human factors enter into everything we do, especially in aviation where it is paramount that we make good decisions all the time for the sake of our passengers and those on the ground we fly over.

Directions: The safety seminar tent is located in the hangar on the highway side (East) of the airport.
